

02-230 would make it impossible to time-shift broadcasts. Consumers would be unable to use the digital equivalent of a VCR (or the successors of today's TiVo PVR). This rule would therefore not only destroy a whole segment of consumer electronics, it would also inconvenience millions of Americans who would have to renounce recording a show to watch it later.